

A photograph of Sergio Campos, a bus mechanic, working on the engine of a bus. He is wearing a dark blue uniform with reflective yellow-green stripes, a black baseball cap with a white 'NY' logo, and safety glasses. He is smiling at the camera while holding a wrench. The background shows the complex engine compartment of a bus with various hoses and mechanical parts.

Sergio Campos

MECHANIC II

22 YEARS

Describe your role and your responsibilities in 1-2 sentences.

I manage and provide maintenance to all the buses in the GoTriangle fleet. My responsibilities range from minor repairs to major repairs including power, transmission, brakes, anything the buses need.

What does a typical day look like for you?

Work smoothly, do the best you can, do the extra step, be optimistic.

What skills or qualities help you succeed in your position?

I have to be very thorough at what I do. I don't want to fix a bus and then it come back the next day with the same problem or worse.

What is the most challenging part of your role?

Every day, my job is different. When I come in the morning, I don't know what I'm going to be working on. I have to do my best work every day to ensure the buses provide safe transportation to their riders.

What is something surprising about your job that most people wouldn't know?

I am often asked to train the incoming mechanics and show them the ropes. This makes me feel very important and valuable at this company. Also, anytime management wants to make any changes they come to us and ask for our opinion.

Share a memorable story or moment from your time at GoTriangle.

My wife Guadalupe was pregnant to our daughter Brezzy when I had just started working at GoTriangle. Now, years later, all three of us work here together.

What advice would you give someone interested in a career in transit?

I enjoy coming in every single day because the people here are like my second family. I have a great relationships with everyone I work with. Everything I have learned while working here, I know I am going to take with me for the rest of my life.